Basics Overview/ Refresher

The Red River Valley Chapter will be hosting a Basics Overview course in early December. This will be a low cost, one day program that will help set the foundation for further certification, like the new Certified in Logistics, Transportation and Distribution (CLTD). This will also be a refresher course for those who have attended the Basics course in the past but would like a review. The course would provide the APICS dictionary as part of the material. This is not an official APICS offering, but it addresses a gap that we feel is important to fill. It will also include a quick overview of how APICS has restructured the CPIM course.

Logistics, Transportation & Distribution (CLTD)

In January, the RRVC will be teaching a three day course on the newly established CLTD. This course is designed for a wide range of supply chain professionals. Highlights from this course include logistics specialists, inventory and logistics, warehouse operations, and reverse logistics. This course has something to offer for just about everyone. Please look for further information in the near future.
